FSA TO EXPLAIN REMOVAL OF LOUISIANA TENANT FARMERS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—Removal of Negro tenant farmers from Transylvania, the government's resettlement project at Lake Parish, La., continues apace, while efforts of Farm Security Administration officials to clear up the situation are being pursued, it was revealed this week.

A conference was held here Monday, Oct. 3, at the office of Dr. Will Alexander, farm security administrator, when efforts were made to clear up the situation. The conference was called by Dr. Alexander at the request of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Those present during the conversations included: Dr. Charles H. Houston, of the N. A. A. C. P.'s national legal staff; and the following security administration officials: Joseph H. B. Evans, Major M. Walker and Constance E. H. Danlel.

ALEXANDER'S DECISION
In a statement issued shortly after the conference Houston said he had sought to get a clear out-reason from Dr. Alexander for the government's removal of these Negro tenant farmers from Transylvania to Thomastown, another government resettlement project some sixty miles away.

"Dr. Alexander stated himself," Houston said, "that it was upon this decision made last June that action was taken to remove Negro tenant farmers from Transylvania to Thomastown I have asked the Farm Security Administration to answer all the correspondence between their officials and the N. A. A. C. P. relating to this matter. I have further asked them to make a statement setting forth their reasons and policies behind the exclusion of Negroes from Transylvania, and to give the N. A. A. C. P. assurance that the Farm Security Administration would make a full disclosure and explanation to the Negroes on the Transylvania project. Dr. Alexander has assured me that these things would be done."

PROBE BEGAN IN AUGUST

Because citizens in the vicinity of Lake Providence, and within the Transylvania project felt that the Negro tenant farmers, who have lived in this region more than half a century signed agreements to have themselves transferred to the Thomastown project some sixty miles away, without being aware of what they were doing, an investigation was launched by the N. A. A. C. P. into the project activities last August.

It was said that the tenant farmers signed the agreements fully believing that they would occupy the land they lived on. The Transylvania project was opened for the reception of applicants in June, 1938. It is a cooperative-government-sponsored farming project. Farmers accepted are allotted 40 acres of land and in paying a small sum annually will own this land within 40 years.
